

I strongly oppose any more changes to FCC policy that would allow even more indecency and obscenity broadcast over the radio and television.

Networks have always operated under the principle that the airwaves they use are owned by the public. Therefore, the standards of decency must be high. The FCC should NOT allow expletives and nudity on air, especially during the afternoon and evening hours when children will be watching.

American broadcasting standards need to be tightened, not relaxed. I strongly urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of nudity and expletives on FCC licensed stations. Please, do the right thing.

-Sean Duffy